THFC PLANS GET THE GREEN LIGHT

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

DEMANDS were made this week for Boris Johnson to overturn the planning consent Spurs recently received for its new £400 million stadium scheme.

Tottenham Hotspur were granted approval for the 61,000 seater arena and proposed skyscraper development surrounding the White Hart Lane ground by Haringey Council last month.

But formal approval is still needed from Mayor of London Boris Johnson.

Opponents of the stadium plan are calling on him to refuse permission claiming a lack of affordable accommodation among the proposed 600 new homes plus the sheer scale of the towering skyscrapers which they say will overshadow existing homes.

"The proposal contains no affordable housing and does nothing to provide homes to people in Tottenham on the housing waiting list," said community campaigner, Martin Ball.

"The proposed 35-storey tower is a double insult; for being luxury flats and casting a large shadow over the people living below.'

He said he hoped the Mayor of London would quash the plan.

"Boris gave money to help repair the area after the 2011 riots and now needs to help us to see off the environmental damage to the area that Spurs, in association with the council's own demolition plans for nearby council estates, seek to do," he added.

Vision of the future: An artist's impression of how the completed stadium will look

The Spurs plan also includes a 12-storey hotel with 180 rooms, an extreme sports centre plus a community health centre and spacious public square for local events. Spurs hope to occupy the stadium by 2018.

Paul Burnham, secretary of Haringey Defend Council Housing, claimed the scheme would do nothing to ease the borough's housing crisis and blamed the council for failing to stand up to threats or pressure from the football club that it might move elsewhere.

However, council chiefs say the scheme will spearhead their "ambitious regeneration plans for Tottenham", including more than 4,000 new homes, refreshed community facilities and improved transport links in the neighbouring High Road West and Northumberland Park areas.

Haringey Council leader Claire Kober said: "We're delighted to see these exciting plans approved which will support our long-term regeneration plans and write a new chapter in Spurs' long and successful history in our borough.

These proposals are about more than just a new stadium – they bring much-needed new jobs and a boost to the economy, with thousands more fans spending money in local businesses."

Appy days: OLIO co-founder Tessa Cook

Going app in the world...

A GROWING appetite for environmental awareness around our eating habits has prompted a mum from Finsbury Park to launch a food sharing app.

Tessa Cook, together with fellow mum and friend Saasha Celestial-One, first launched OLIO in Haringey, Hackney, Camden and Islington this summer, and it has now been rolled out across London.

The platform shot to the top of the UK app store list soon after release. The entrepreneurial pair reached out to venture capitalists in Silicon Valley for seed funding, allowing the team to grow and take their app to a much larger audience.

The free platform links neighbours with each other and with local independent shops to share their surplus food. This could include food nearing its sell-by date from shops, cafes and markets, spare vegetables from allotments, cakes from an amateur baker or groceries from household fridges when people go away or move home. Users snap a picture of the items and add them to OLIO for a neighbour to collect.

Tessa said: "Every day across the communities we're in, hundreds of strangers are connecting on their doorsteps to share surplus food. We're excited that this new phenomenon can now spread to every corner of London."

Father who killed baby must serve minimum of 16 years

A FATHER has been jailed after murdering his baby son by violently shaking and assaulting him in a fit of rage.

Piotr Sobczyk, 27 of Trulock Road, Tottenham was sentenced to life imprisonment at the Old Bailey last Tuesday.

He must serve a minimum term of 16 and a half years after he was found guilty at an earlier hearing of killing six-month-old Oskar Sobczyk.

Detective Inspector Julie Willats of homicide and major crime command said: "We will never really know what happened that day as only Sobczyk and his six-month-old son were inside the family home.

"But it is believed Sobczyk violently shook and assaulted Oskar in an outburst of rage, causing catastrophic injuries from which the baby had no hope of recovery.

"Sobczyk went on to change his story several times, trying to cover up what happened and claiming it was an accident out of his control.

"I am pleased the jury saw through his lies and have convicted him today."

At about 13.45pm on Friday, January 23, police and the London Ambulance Service were called by Sobcyzk to the family home to reports of a non-responsive baby.

They found Oskar, pale and lifeless, lying on a sofa in cardiac arrest. He was treated by paramedics at the scene and then taken to North Middlesex Hospital. He was later transferred to Great Ormond Street Hospital where he was pronounced dead at 10.56am on Monday, January 26.

The court heard that Oskar was a well and healthy baby and on that day his mother had left him in Sobczyk's care while she went to the shops.

It is unclear exactly what happened but it was the prosecution's case that Sobczyk lost control and shook and assaulted Oskar, causing his immediate collapse.

A post-mortem examination showed he died from a head injury that was inflicted, not accidental, and there was also evidence of older injuries, including fractures and damage to his left arm. He had several bruises.

NEWSPAPERS SUPPORT RECYCLING

Hospital's new £2m unit can help to reduce waiting times

State-of-the-art facility will offer patients 'more privacy and dignity'

By Lucy Purdy
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A £2 MILLION unit for endoscopy patients has opened at Chase Farm Hospital and could signal reduced waiting times for patients.

The dedicated building, which opened its doors last Tuesday, will have greater capacity for patients needing endoscopy procedures such as colonoscopies.

The new unit has twice as many treatment rooms as before, as well as private recovery rooms which are designed to allow patients "more privacy and dignity".

The unit will also be the first in the country to use a new tracking system which will allow staff to more closely monitor patients.

As part of the wider redesign of endoscopy services at the Royal Free London, patients will now be offered endoscopy appointments at the new unit at Chase Farm Hospital or at the Royal Free Hospital, while Barnet Hospital will provide only in-patient and emergency endoscopy services.

The building at Chase Farm will not support x-ray services so all planned procedures requiring radiology support will be carried out at the Royal Free Hospital.

Doug Thorburn, clinical director for liver transplant, hepatology, hepatobiliary and pancreatic and gastroenterology, said: "I am delighted that we are opening this new unit, which means we can offer a better service to our patients.

"We will have more capacity, which means waiting times will be cut and we will also offer patients private recovery rooms.

"The new unit will have all the latest equipment and technology and will be a more spacious and pleasant environment for our patients and staff."

Scene of the crime: The house in Ridge Avenue where the victim was found

Man charged with murder following death of woman

A MAN has been remanded in custody after being charged with the murder of a 22-year-old woman in Winchmore Hill.

Tedros Habtom Kahssay, 28, of Ridge Avenue in Winchmore Hill is accused of killing Mambero Ghebreflafie in Ridge Avenue on December 19.

Police said although they were still awaiting formal identification and have yet to trace next of kin they were confident that the dead woman was from Parsloes Avenue in Dagenham.

Kahssay appeared at Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on December 21 and was remanded in custody until he appears at the Old Bailey in March 2016.

Firefighters save day after turkey mishap

By Julia Gregory
julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

FIREFIGHTERS put their culinary skills to the test when a family's oven caught fire as they got ready for dinner on Christmas Day.

The crews from Edmonton and Tottenham fire station were called out to the kitchen fire in Park Avenue in Edmonton at 12.19pm as a family was looking forward to Christmas dinner.

Adam Baker, blue watch manager at Edmonton station, said: "The oven fire was already out when we arrived. The turkey had only been in the oven for an hour, we saw the table was laid out with all the crackers and asked 'Do you know anyone else nearby or have any neighbours that could cook the turkey for you?' but they said no.'"

He said the crew were getting ready for their own festive meal and offered to cook the family's dinner for them at the station in Church Street.

Mr Baker said: "We were cooking our turkey back at the station so we offered to take theirs and put it in our oven and told them they could come and collect it in a few hours."

Despite being delayed dinner was cooked to perfection when the family collected the meal from the fire station kitchen later in the day.

What's cooking?: Grateful family members with firefighters

It is thought that that the fire was caused by a lack of maintenance and a build up of cooking fat in the oven.

The fire is believed to have been caused by a lack of maintenance and a build up of fat in the oven, said a Fire Brigade spokesman.

Mr Baker added: "It's very lucky they smelt the smoke whilst they were cooking, as there was no working smoke alarms in the property."

He said it was vital for people to have at least one working smoke alarm in their property and urged householders to treat themselves to a smoke alarm this festive season.

It is not the first foray into cookery for London firefighters this year.

Greenwich firefighter Mat Riley was a contestant in the Great British Bake Off, making it through until round seven with his breads and pastries.

Turning the tables: The Ugly Sisters try their hand at being beauticians

They shall go to the ball!

A GIRL has to look her best- but making the Ugly Sisters attractive is some ask.

The gruesome twosome – currently appearing in the panto Cinderella, at Edmonton's Millfield Theatre until Sunday, January 3 – visited a beauty retreat in the borough last week.

They spent the morning relaxing and being pampered at Enfield's Champneys Day Spa in Palace Exchange, Hatton Walk.

Staff had their work cut out trying to turn ugly ducklings into beautiful swans – especially as Cinders' step sisters have faces that only a mother could love.

"When we found out that the Ugly Sisters had made a booking, we knew our girls were in for a long morning," said the spa's operations manager, Kate Hunt. "But the team at Enfield were more than happy to help and It was a lot of fun. Who knows, perhaps they will now dazzle at the ball?"

Victoria Sanderson, Millfield Theatre Business Development and Community Manager added: "Everyone wants to look their best for the ball and the Uglies were in need of some professional intervention."

The perfect Christmas present: Blessing Godwin and baby daughter Trinity Oghenebrume-Izzi

Special delivery

THERE was an extra special delivery for one Enfield mum who gave birth to the borough's first Christmas Day baby on Friday.

Tiny Trinity Oghenebrume-Izzi arrived at just 38 minutes past midnight at North Middlesex Hospital's new maternity ward in Sterling way, Edmonton.

Weighing in at 6lbs 7oz, the little bundle of joy had kept everyone waiting and after a long labour had to be delivered by emergency cesarean.

Proud mum Blessing Godwin, who lives in Chaffinch Close, Edmonton, said it was well worth it.

"She means the world to me," she said.

A hospital spokesman added: "About 4500 babies are born in the unit every year, many using the birthing pools in the unit's midwife-led delivery suite. Earlier this year the unit featured in an ITV comedy series called Delivery Man about a male midwife."

Tragic: David Barcelos

Tributes paid to David

JANUARY

FAMILIES living in staff accommodation at Chase Farm began the year by fighting plans to evict them from their homes. Doctors, nurses and other staff lobbied the Secretary of State for Health, Jeremy Hunt, in a bid to win a reprieve.

Meanwhile, tributes flowed in for "peace-loving" 13-year-old David Barcelos who died in a collision with a bus shortly after taking his sister to her primary school. The accident happened during rush-hour traffic in Fore Street, Edmonton.

And train boss Keith Jipps admitted almost missing his stop at Enfield Chase when he travelled to the borough to attend a public meeting – about poor train services.

Inadequate lighting meant the passenger service director for Govia struggled to make out the station name.

Members of the audience urged him to direct train drivers to announce station stops on the line in the future but Mr Jipps admitted a severe shortage of train drivers was making it difficult to run a tip-top service.

NHS tragedy – and allotments turf war

FEBRUARY

AN inquest in February heard that the boss of a beleaguered NHS department had been found by colleagues hanged following a visit by government inspectors.

Hanged: Mark Channell

Mark Channell had been joint head of the casualty unit at North Middlesex University Hospital in Edmonton. It came under fire in a Care Quality Commission report just days after his death in August 2014. Mr Channell may have been pushed over the edge by the pressure of his role, the inquest heard.

Elsewhere, friends who have toiled away on neighbouring allotment plots in Houndsfield Road, Edmonton, joined forces to fight proposals to turf them from the site. A group of concerned gardeners gathered at the Enfield Council-owned plot to protest the eviction in a row over what the council had branded "oversized and potentially dangerous structures".

"So much work has gone into our plots," argued the green-fingered growers.

Turfed out: Irate allotment users in Houndsfield Road

Arson attack: Councillor Chris Bond surveys the damage to the swings at Grovelands Park

MARCH

SLIDES and swings lay among smoking wreckage in March when a children's playground was torched by arsonists – for the second time in four months. Enfield Council estimated the damage bill ran to £30,000 on each occasion when Grovelands Park in Winchmore Hill was set on fire.

International Women's Day was marked in the same month by a protest against the red-top tradition of page 3.

No More Page 3 campaign group founder Lucy Holmes claimed "boobs are not news" while speaking at the Dugdale Centre in Enfield Town.

Campaigners celebrated a decision by The Sun newspaper to phase out the tradition.

It was revealed that major advertisers had begun to reconsider their relationship with the newspaper in the wake of the grassroots campaign.

On the campaign trail: Prime Minister David Cameron talks to staff at Kelvin Hughes

Cameron pays a flying visit

APRIL

WITH the general election looming on the horizon, April was dominated by politicians of various stripes gracing the borough with their presence.

Even April showers did not deter the great and the good, with Prime Minister David Cameron arriving at Kelvin Hughes, in Mollison Avenue, Ponders End to talk up the government's economic record.

While he entertained the workers, Labour's Tessa Jowell sailed into town in her pink minibus while other visitors included London Mayor Boris Johnson and shadow health minister Andy Burnham.

Local politics were equally eventful, with the shock resignation of culture chief Rohini Simbodyal and Chris Bond's replacement as cabinet member for environment by Daniel Anderson.

Meanwhile, a 13-year-old boy was locked up for a minimum of 11 years for the "unprovoked and cowardly" stabbing of 53-year-old builder Christopher John Barry, (pictured right), at a block of flats in Edmonton Green on December 14, 2014.

The boy, who cannot be named for legal reasons, was sentenced at the Old Bailey.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Richard Power feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and Richard is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Richard a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Back in the house: Joan Ryan celebrates after regaining her Enfield North seat

Ryan returns as MP – and jewel heist arrests

MAY

LABOUR'S Joan Ryan offered her party some small consolation for its comprehensive general election defeat on May 7 by narrowly regaining the Enfield North seat which she lost to Conservative rival Nick de Bois in 2010.

In Enfield Southgate, Tory incumbent David Burrowes saw off the challenge of Bambos Charalambous, while Labour's Kate Osamor comfortably triumphed in Edmonton with a majority of more than 15,000.

Away from politics, London Marathon runners celebrated their success – and raising thousands of pounds for charity.

Estate agent Andrew Ryde, who owns Chamberlains, in Windmill Hill, Enfield raised more than £4,300 for children's charity Coram, finishing in a time of four hours and 50 minutes, while Edmonton barber Tony Lambrou completed his tenth marathon, during which time he has raised £50,000 for a range of charities.

Meanwhile police investigating the multi-million-pound Hatton Garden jewel heist have arrested four men in Enfield in connection with the robbery. The men, aged 67, 74, 60 and 48, were arrested following an operation involving 200 officers across London and Kent.

Paul's on the spot – and tube strike confirmed

JUNE

PAUL Clarke was the perfect man for the job when his neighbour found herself trapped in her burning kitchen.

The retired firefighter gallantly vaulted the fence and pulled 85-year-old Vera Randell to safety before dousing the flames with her garden hose.

Chingford station officer Nic McCallum said afterwards: "I want to thank the neighbour for his efforts and it was a pleasant surprise to see Paul standing in the garden."

Also in June, thieves disguised themselves as railway workers in an unsuccessful attempt to break into a cash machine at Enfield Chase station.

The raid caused caused commuter chaos, with hundreds forced to make alternative travel arrangements as forensics teams inspected the scene.

And with Transport for London planning to operate a 24-hour service on parts of the London Underground network at weekends, tube drivers confirmed plans for a one-day strike in July in protest over pay and health and safety issues.

As 2015 draws to a close, TfL's plans have yet to be implemented...

Right man for the job: Retired firefighter Paul Clarke

Enfield's law – and plenty of water

JULY

HE may have lost his Enfield North seat in May – but Nick de Bois will have taken some satisfaction in the successful passage through Parliament of the so-called Enfield's Law, which came into force this month.

The legislation, championed by Mr de Bois while he was an MP, means repeat offenders found carrying a knife face an automatic jail term.

Somewhat poignantly, the danger posed by knives in the community was highlighted a week later when a 28-year-old man was stabbed to death in Lackmore Road, off Bullsmoor Court following a botched robbery attempt.

Meanwhile, hundreds were left without water as Thames Water struggled to repair a burst mains pipe, prompted a furious backlash on Twitter.

Making a splash: Workmen repair the burst pipe in Enfield Road

One resident, Costas Georghiou, vented his frustration and tweeted: "No water in Enfield. It's been all day, Tesco is out of bottled water, is this first world? I hope its resolved by the morning @thameswater"

Outlining his priorities: Zac Goldsmith and Nick de Bois

Tragedy at flats – and Goldsmith pays a visit

AUGUST

SHOCKED residents held a minute's silence after Jourdain John-Baptiste, 22, pictured, plummeted to her death from the balcony of her fourth floor flat at Gainsborough House in Bush Hill Park.

Tributes poured in for the for pupil of Salisbury School in Edmonton, with one former schoolmate writing on Facebook: one schoolmate of Jourdain wrote: "On behalf of everyone who met you in school we are devastated by your loss, you're gone but never forgotten, the memories we share will continue to live in our hearts forever."

A 24-year-old man, who was arrested at the scene on suspicion of grievous bodily harm, was bailed to a date in September.

Tory mayoral hopeful Zac Goldsmith outlined his priorities during a visit to the borough – and insisted that his millionaire status would not alienate voters.

On a visit to campaign director Nick de Bois's former Enfield North constituency, Mr Goldsmith, Conservative MP for Richmond, highlighted housing as one of his campaign priorities, explaining: "The bottom line is that you've got to build more. You probably have to double the rate of building we've seen over the past 20 years."

Police shooting – and Ukraine festival

SEPTEMBER

A 43-YEAR old man was shot dead by police following an incident at Picardy House in Cedar Road, Enfield, leaving residents shocked.

Officers opened fire shortly before midnight after responding to an emergency call. The man was pronounced dead at the scene.

The shooting is being investigated by the Independent Police Complaints Commission.

On a more light-hearted note, police called for back-up after complaints of a swan obstructing the public highway in Southgate.

The cygnet landed in Wynchgate after flying over from the lake in nearby Grovelands Park, to which it eventually returned with a bit of encouragement from the RSPCA.

And the grounds of Forty Hall echoed to the sound of traditional music, singing and dancing during the second annual Ukrainian festival.

The Spirit of Ukraine festival attracted hundreds of people from across the UK to the estate, in Forty Hill, Enfield.

Organiser Roman Pasika said: "For the second year running we had an amazing day. The sun shone and hundreds of people attended."

Chase Farm row – and a fresh Hatton Garden twist

OCTOBER

LABOUR MP Joan Ryan called on David Sloman, chief executive of the Royal Free NHS Foundation Trust, to keep her better informed about plans for Chase Farm Hospital.

The Enfield North MP said: "I have not had any information from Mr Sloman about this latest stage of the development.

"Does he not want to make sure all residents and patients, who are my constituents, have access to as much information as possible?"

A trust spokesman said: "We aim to keep residents and stakeholders informed of our plans through a variety of means, including newsletters, emails and public events and will continue to do so."

Meanwhile the hunt for the stolen Hatton Garden loot took another twist when Bush Hill Park man Daniel Jones showed police where he's stashed his share – in Edmonton Cemetery.

The 60-year-old had already admitted conspiracy to burgle at a hearing at Woolwich Crown court in September.

Smiles better: Layla Richards

Cycle wars – and pioneering gene therapy for Layla

NOVEMBER

RIVALS clashed over the Cycle Enfield proposals with Linda Miller, chairwoman of Enfield Town Residents' Association, claiming it would turn Church Street into a "graveyard".

However, Adrian Lauchlan, Enfield co-ordinator for the London Cycling Campaign, told the Advertiser that concerns about disabled and vulnerable road users would be taken on board.

Miracle baby Layla Richards became the first person in the world to receive "designer" gene therapy to overcome her "incurable" cancer.

One-year-old Layla, from Enfield, received the pioneering treatment after being diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukaemia.

She's now recovering at home, although she returns to hospital for regular check-ups.

Meanwhile Labour's Andrew Stafford was forced to apologise after seeing red during a council meeting – and swearing at Tory rival Alessandro Georgiou.

Conservative councillors walked out of a full council meeting at the civic centre following the incident, which Mr Stafford said had been triggering by Mr Georgiou's comments about striking miners in the 1980s.

Khiry's killers get life, cult leader convicted

DECEMBER

TWIN brothers Charles and Deo Tamale were handed life sentences at the Old Bailey for the murder of father-of-one Khiry Ford, pictured, who was stabbed to death at a party in Edmonton.

The 19-year-olds, of St Edmunds Road, Edmonton, who were described by Khiry's sister Naomi Ford as "evil little boys", will serve a minimum of 22 years in prison.

Khiry's mother Joanne Duncan said their actions had devastated her family and deprived his four-year-old son of a loving father.

And Maoist cult leader Aravindan Balakrishnan, 75, from Latymer Road, Edmonton, was convicted at Southwark Crown Court of keeping his daughter a prisoner and raping and abusing two of his followers.

Balakrishnan, who was also convicted of indecent assault and actual bodily harm, is due to be sentenced on January 29, 2016.

Spare a thought for the children without homes this Christmas

AS an architect, I know that buildings mean much more than just bricks and mortar, with none more important than the building we call home – especially at Christmas time.

There's nothing more magical than spending the day with my children and the people who matter most to me, in a home that could almost be a part of our family itself.

That's why it's heart-breaking to know that 78,000 children in London will be homeless this Christmas.

They are among the 100,000 homeless children in Britain right now. Thankfully these children aren't on the streets, but living in temporary accommodation, which means they don't have a stable or safe place to call home.

Many of them will be sharing a single room of a cramped hostel or B&B with their whole family, sharing facilities with strangers and with no space for a tree, or even to eat Christmas dinner.

Luckily Shelter is here so that nobody has to fight bad housing or homelessness on their own, which is why I'm proud to support them.

But sadly, as more and more families struggle to keep a roof over their heads, Shelter's advisers are now bracing themselves for even more calls for help.

Marks and Spencer has supported Shelter for the last ten years, and this year they will be donating five per cent from each product sold through its Christmas Food on the Move range directly to Shelter's helpline.

Something as simple as a sandwich really can make a huge difference to the thousands of people fighting to keep a roof over their heads this Christmas.

So please, treat yourself to a festive Food on the Move lunch at M&S and help Shelter to be there for everyone who needs them.

Consultation highlights the tough choices ahead

RECENTLY receiving my copy of the Budget Consultation for the council it really brought home to me the difficult decisions that are placed on our councillors and officers.

I sat with some members of my family and discussed what we each thought was a priority and as you can imagine we all came out with different preferences.

What seems important to me may not necessarily resonate with others, but it soon becomes apparent that everything has a knock on effect to all the other issues, ie to encourage new businesses to the area you really need to give those companies a good impression of the borough by having clean streets etc. Everything is important in its own way.

Asking me why the council are making any cuts at all I had to explain to them that the cuts in Local Authority funding by the government means that Enfield, who are not alone in these cuts, will lose approximately 60 per cent of its funding. So it is a choice of whether we, as a community feel that weekly bin collections are more important than libraries etc.

What people really need to know is that what all councils are being forced to do is fund the services they have to by law and then decide which of the other services need to take a cut. It's a decision that I'm glad I don't have to make but we can all influence and help make that task a little easier by completing the consultation paper.

Rick Jewell
Hoe Lane
Enfield

Labour must listen before it's too late

I COMMEND Councillor Pite for her honesty in stating "The Cycle Enfield Consultation is not a referendum". (Opinion, December 16), it confirms what many of us suspect, that the Labour council will go ahead with the substantive scheme for Enfield Town irrespective of the responses to the consultation.

If the consultation is real and views are heard there will have to be significant adjustments to the scheme.

However, those of us who serve on Cycle Enfield Partnership Board (North) will know that other proposals including shared space were not included in the consultation by the council, so we have little confidence that the Labour Administration will accept anything other than two way traffic in Cecil Road and buses and cycles only in the Town.

Residents have been provided with only one real option based upon Dutch principles and terrain, not Enfield`s terrain of hills and inclines.

The impact of the proposed scheme will result in more congestion in neighbouring roads (pollution simply displaced), more rat-running, will compromise our wonderfully relaunched market and after dark when there are fewer (or no) buses and cyclists the Town will feel a less safe place and this is likely to encourage anti-social behaviour.

It is a great pity that before the Cycle Enfield bid was submitted, there was not proper consultation with those whose livelihood depends on the Town, those who reside there and those who use the facilities of our historic market town.

Had this happened it may have been possible to provided a bid that met the aspiration of cyclists and others who use the Town.

Looking across London where similar schemes have proceeded we see a year of road works and chaos, which only adds to pollution, drives away trade and damages businesses.

This may be a price worth paying if a scheme results in more businesses opening and more trade.

An unchanged Cycle Enfield Plan will do the reverse in both the short and long term.

Councillor Michael Rye, OBE,
Town Ward

Where will all the traffic go?

COUNCILLOR Pite writes a long and coherent letter setting out her point of view about the "mini Holland" scheme.

However, in her utopian 1950s vision of traffic free areas, parks, public seating and happy pedestrians and cyclists moving freely to and fro, she overlooks one point.

Where does she think all this displaced traffic is going to?

Enfield Council seems to think it will just conveniently evaporate into thin air, causing no problems to homeowners and shop keepers affected by the scheme and having no negative effects on the areas surrounding Enfield.

She is happily contemplating inconveniencing 95 per cent of her electorate to benefit five per cent.

The council seem determined to force this hare brained scheme on us regardless of the consequences and regardless of the expense of putting it right after a few chaotic years.

Will Transport for London cough up another £30 million then (oh, the waste when it could be spent on hospitals and schools!) or will it be Enfield tax and rate payers?

Valerie Darville
Queen Anne's Grove
Enfield

Don't ignore the majority...

COUNCILLOR Vicki Pite, Chair Cycle Enfield Partnership Board (North), expresses the view that "most cars in Enfield Town are passing through, they neither stop nor shop."

She adds: "Our town centre is one big rat run – polluted, unpleasant and unsafe for pedestrians, cyclists, the vulnerable, the elderly and the young."

So the Enfield Cycle Plan options on offer propose to shift the problem with all the above, created not only by cars but vans and large lorries to the already heavily congested surrounding residential areas such as Cecil Road, Chase Side, Windmill Hill, Old Park Ridings and many others.

Also the Cycle Plan, but not included in the current consultation, intends to utilise currently safe walkways used by pedestrians and children along the New River Loop to provide safe cycle ways for cyclists! Where's the common sense, improvement and "essential change" in those proposals Councillor Pite?

The council, whatever the result of the unsatisfactory consultation, needs to sit down with all interested parties and come up with an option that provides safe cycling and satisfies the vast majority of the community – not the very small minority.

Gordon Draper
Chase Side, Enfield

Definitely the right decision

LIBERAL Democrat mayoral candidate Caroline Pidgeon's campaign against proposed cuts to local police has been successful.

Sir Bernard Hogan-Howe, head of the Metropolitan Police, has committed to keeping Police Community Support Officers after announcements earlier in the year that police support officers across London could be cut.

Our streets will be safer with these bobbies on the beat and I welcome the decision by the Met not to axe community policing. Liberal Democrats across London and in Haringey have been campaigning to save Police Community Support Officers from these cuts. The petition the Lib Dems launched was signed by thousands of Londoners.

Keeping these community police is the right decision for London.

Councillor Martin Newton
Haringey Lib Dem Police and Crime Spokesperson

Lewis earns a nomination for his study of craftsmen

By Lucy Purdy
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

CRAFTSMEN poring over their work inspired a painting by a man from Southgate which is in the running for a prestigious £20,000 art prize.

Lewis Hazelwood-Horner's painting, Salt in Tea, was created during a two-year residency at bespoke umbrella shop James Smith & Sons in London's West End.

The 23-year-old, of Selborne Road, is a former pupil of Ashmole School [now Ashmole Academy] and one of six artists to make the shortlist of the 2016 Columbia Threadneedle Prize.

He will also see his work in an exhibition in London that will then move to Florence.

"It was revealed to us as a surprise," he said.

"It felt incredible to be shortlisted because getting into the exhibition was a big enough shock in itself. You can work in your studio for months to years and think what you're doing is absolutely crazy, and then for someone to just pay any sort of notice or appreciation feels very special."

Following the announcement of the winner, an exhibition of 93 selected works will be on show at Mall Galleries in London from February 3 to 20.

The winner, as well as receiving £20,000, will have their own solo exhibition there.

Of the umbrella shop, Lewis said: "It's amazing that this sort of place still exists in the centre of London.

"The shop is full of fascinating old-fashioned tools and the umbrella makers' skill and workmanship are just incredible. The guys start at 8am and I started at 10am, so I used to go in two hours early and sketch them."

The work took two years from inception to completion and Lewis applied so much oil paint to the canvas that he had to remove some of it before continuing.

"It created a marbled effect," he said.

He is now turning his attention to pubs, breweries and hop farms – not in celebration of his achievement – but in search of more rich artistic inspiration.

He's crafty: Lewis Hazelwood-Horner, above, whose painting, Salt in Tea, left, has been shortlisted for the 2016 Columbia Threadneedle Prize

To boldly go...to Alexandra Palace

THE London Model Engineering Exhibition is regarded as one of THE Largest Model Engineering and Modelling Exhibitions in the UK – and we have four family passes to give away.

Now in its 20th Year it will return once again to Alexandra Palace, London from January 15 to 17.

Visitors to the show will see a full spectrum of modelling from traditional model engineering, steam locomotives and traction engines through to Airfix kits, operational miniatures, modern gadgets and toys including futuristic rockets, remote control trucks, boats, aeroplanes, helicopters and robots!

2016 celebrates a Special Mission for all Star Trek fans, as the show will be celebrating 50 years of the show, along with the British Model Flying Association, Tamiya Trucking Group, Brickish, The UK Tank Club, The Imagineering Foundation and the Polly Owners Group who provide passenger rides behind the 5" gauge steam locomotives within the Great Hall. The popular Model Active Zone features fascinating demonstrations and actively encourages visitors of all ages to take part.

More than 50 UK and overseas model clubs and societies will be represented displaying their members work and competing to win the prestigious Society Shield. Plus the leading industry suppliers and experts will be present showcasing new products, special promotions and proving advice to enable hobbyists the opportunity to see and compare products under one roof.

With so much to see and do under one roof, The Model Engineering Exhibition London is a great day out for all the family! For further details visit: www.londonmodelengineering.co.uk

For your chance to win a day pass for a family of four, just answer this simple question:

How many years will Star Trek be celebrating this year?

a) 10 years
b) 50 years
c) 100 years

Send your answer, with your name, address and a daytime phone number, to: Model Competition, North London & Herts Newspapers, 187 Baker Street, Enfield, EN1 3JT, or send your answer, with contact details, to competitions@nlhnews.co.uk, with "Model" in the subject line, by noon on January 7.

Terms and conditions:

- This competition is free to enter and the winner will be the first correct entry drawn from all entries and will be notified by the closing date.
- No correspondence can be entered into and the decision of the judges is final.
- Children under 16 years old must have permission of a parent or guardian before entering.
- There is no cash alternative to the prize which is a Family Ticket, described above, to the London Model Engineering Exhibition.
- Children must be 16 years and under. Please note Meridienne Events do not share data collected from competitions.

Local Plan Consultation

Give your views on the future of Enfield

It is predicted that Enfield's population could exceed 400,000 by 2032. We want your thoughts on how Enfield's growth might take shape. We wish to hear what you think of the future challenges for housing, education, retail, employment and local facilities and options for growth.

Your comments will help us deliver a Plan for the future of Enfield.

We are holding a number of events so you can find out more and tell us what you think. These are taking place at:

Thurs 7 Jan 2016 11am – 3pm	Enfield Town Library, 66 Church Street, Enfield EN2 6AX
Thurs 14 Jan 2016 11am – 3pm	Palmers Green Library, Broomfield Lane, London N13 4EY
Thurs 21 Jan 2016 11am – 3pm	Edmonton Green Library, 36-44 S Mall, Edmonton N9 0TN
Thurs 28 Jan 2016 11am – 3pm	Ordnance Unity Centre, 645 Hertford Rd, Enfield EN3 6ND

Ceremony pays tribute to the best in the business

By Russ Lawrence
russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

THE best in the business among established Enfield companies and fledgling enterprises were honoured at a special awards bash.

The annual competition, run by Enfield Enterprise, an independent not-for-profit business support service in Queensway, Enfield, held its presentation night and gala dinner at The Royal Chace Hotel in the Ridgeway, Enfield.

Among the keynote speakers was former Spurs captain and England international Gary Mabbutt MBE.

Other dignitaries attending included councillor Alan Sitkin, lead member for Economic Regeneration, plus Enfield Mayor Councillor Patricia Ekechi.

The winner of the Start Up Business of the Year was Janet Efere of Tadpole Training at Enfield Business Centre in Hertford Road, Enfield. It was established in 2014 and offers vital business and sales skills on its training courses.

The Business of the Year Award went to Sophoclis Sophocli of Ecologic Energy at the Sovereign Business Centre in Sockingswater Lane, Brimsdown.

The energy efficient insulation company was started seven years ago and now has a turnover of £2.5 million.

The award for Inspiring Woman of the Year was won by Gladys Anoquah of Natgab Services Ltd of Island Centre Way, Enfield.

Established by Gladys two years ago, it provides a community care service to the elderly, disabled and other vulnerable and disadvantaged members of the community.

Joshua Cummins of Theo Jones Recruitment Ltd at the B9 Seedbed Centre in Langston Road, Loughton, won the Young Entrepreneur of the Year award.

Aged just 23, he has set up a recruitment service specifically for motor manufacturers and car dealerships after he had worked for a car dealership and discovered the difficulty they had recruiting staff.

Enterprise Enfield's Chief Executive, Des Johnson, said, "This year was a very special occasion celebrating Enterprise Enfield's 30th Anniversary and we had a fantastic response to the business awards competition. Every year we are amazed by the high quality of entries from so many wonderful Enfield businesses, which makes judging very difficult."

And the winners are...: Joshua Cummins of Theo Jones Recruitment, Janet Efere of Tadpole Training, Gladys Anoquah of Natgab Services and Sophoclis Sophocli of Ecologic Energy

Don't miss out on free licence

WISDOM is not the only thing that comes with advancing years – there is the added bonus of a no longer having to pay for a TV licence.

TV Licensing and the Age UK Charity are reminding Enfield residents and anyone else celebrating their 75th birthday this year that they are entitled to claim a free TV licence for their main addresss on the landmark occasion.

And you'll be in good company – comedian Bill Oddie, football manager Sir Alex Ferguson and Rolling Stones drummer Charlie Watts all celebrate their 75th birthdays in 2016.

Many elderly people are unaware that they are entitled to the concession which four million across the UK already enjoy. Figures show that the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 89 per cent since 1974, with this age group making up over eight per cent of the UK population.

There are almost half a million people in London aged 75 and over. Currently176,848 people in the capital have an Over 75 licence, which means there are still 282,257 people aged 75 and over who can claim a free TV licence.

Caroline Abrahams, Charity Director of Age UK said:"We would encourage everyone aged 75 and over to apply for their free TV Licence if they haven't already done so. Applying is easy and TV Licensing will renew your licence automatically for three years once you've applied, cutting down on the need for paper work."

You can apply online at www.tvlicensing.co.uk/over75 or by calling 0300 790 6073.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
 (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
 (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
 (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
 (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
 (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.
Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.
Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

POCHETTINO'S JOY AT LAST-GASP GOAL

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

Late drama: Mauricio Pochettino was thrilled to see his Spurs side grab a dramatic win at Watford on Monday

HEAD coach Mauricio Pochettino expressed his delight after Tottenham Hotspur snatched a last-gasp 2-1 victory at Watford on Monday to climb up into third place in the Premier League table.

Spurs, looking to build on their comfortable victory over Norwich City on Boxing Day, opened the scoring at Vicarage Road through Erik Lamela – only for the in-form hosts to hit back as Odion Ighalo grabbed an equaliser just before half-time.

Watford had Nathan Ake sent off on 64 minutes, but it looked as if the ten-man hosts would hold on for a draw until Heung-Min Son struck in stoppage time to snatch a dramatic triumph for Tottenham.

"It's always emotional when you get a winner in the last minute," Pochettino said. "I thought it was fantastic how we managed the game. How we conceded the goal was a little unlucky, but in the end we fully deserved the victory.

"We played against a tough, tough side in Watford and two weeks ago Liverpool had big problems against them. It was a late victory but we deserved it.

"It was fantastic to feel the emotion when the late goal went in. We had the experience of a late defeat against Newcastle and now it's the opposite. Over the whole season it will balance out. We deserved the win and I'm very pleased.

"It was an important goal for Son and important for us. We have a strong squad and every player is important. We showed that again as Son made a real impact coming from the bench and scored a crucial goal."

Having played with a flat back four all season, Pochettino decided to switch systems and use Eric Dier as a third central defender to attempt to counter Watford's front two of Ighalo and Troy Deeney – and the head coach was full of praise for the way his players adapted with such little preparation time.

"Sometimes you analyse an opponent and how they create problems to other teams," he said. "The way Watford play is to always find a striker and create problems from there. They don't elaborate too much or play form the back, they play forward and they are very strong. We worked on how to stop that.

"We didn't have time to train on the pitch, we needed to use a different way, so cameras, clips and videos were very important. We showed videos and had meetings with different players – defensive, offensive, keeper and full-backs.

"We had Sunday and Monday morning to work on it. We have clever players and this is important, we need to give full credit to them.

"The condition of the pitch made it difficult to play how we usually play but we showed great maturity. We need to feel proud for the players. It was a great effort after only playing 48 hours earlier."

Head coach insists that star striker Kane is going nowhere in transfer window

HARRY KANE is not for sale at any price according to Tottenham Hotspur head coach Mauricio Pochettino.

Despite giving no indication that he has any interest in leaving White Hart Lane, the striker was linked with a big-money move to Manchester United last summer and – with the transfer window opening this week – speculation has again begun the top clubs may look to snap up the England international.

But Pochettino insists that there is no way that Kane will be leaving the club – no matter what bids are made.

"There is no price," he said. "No-one can buy him. He is not for sale. There is not a value because it is impossible to put a price."

Kane continued his fine form by scoring twice in the Boxing Day win over Norwich City, before Tom Carroll wrapped up the 3-0 triumph with a fine strike from 25 yards out – and the midfielder was thrilled to grab his first goal in the league.

"I was delighted to score my first Premier League goal," he said. "My celebration wasn't the best but I was absolutely delighted to score and get the win. I caught it perfectly, and as soon as I hit the ball I knew it had half a chance.

"The first 20 minutes we were slow to get out of the blocks, but after that I thought we played well and dominated in the second half. We looked sharp and it from the start after the break."

And fellow midfielder Dele Alli was delighted by Spurs' display as they continued their climb up the table.

"We were delighted to get the three points," he said. "It was a solid performance by everyone and we really showed what we're about.

"Personally I was just going out there and trying to express myself. I wanted to get forward as much as I could but, in terms of the whole team, we had a game plan which everyone stuck to – and it worked.

"Obviously we were in good form and we went a lot of games unbeaten before the Newcastle match. I think that defeat affected the boys quite a lot for a few days, but we're in really good form again and we're playing well.

"It was just a little setback but we're on the right path again now and this result was massive, not just for the table, but for our confidence as well."
